

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please amend the paragraph at page 44, lines 14-30, as follows:

On the other hand, the main display screen relating to the Internet menu M6 is formed by displaying web pages and the like, together with the menus of forward, backward, and the like. The display screen relating to the electronic mail menu M7 is formed by displaying the menus of incoming mails, sent mails, mail creation, and the like. It is configured such that contents are displayed by the selection of each mail, or a mail creation screen and the like are displayed. The main display screen of the menu M8 relating to still images is formed by displaying a menu for operation relating to still images, together with the thumbnail images of respective ~~[[sill]]~~ still images. By the selection of the thumbnail image, the corresponding still image is displayed in an enlarged scale. Alternatively, the selection of the menu enables to execute the display of a slide show, and the like.